

Flexi Heavy Duty Monitor Arm

Product Overview

Do you need to mount a large monitor on the desktop? If so, the Flexi Heavy Duty monitor arm, with a weight carrying capacity of up to 0-15 kg for screens up to 43", should be central to your consideration.

Large monitors and particularly curved monitors have particular ergonomic issues when mounted in a home office. It can be difficult to position for the correct viewing angle where more depth of vision is required. The curvature of some monitors can also prove difficult to effectively fit within the confines of home office desktops.

This is where the Flexi Heavy Duty monitor arm can assist by its ability to mount heavier and larger monitors quickly and easily. Easy to setup in a home office environment, the desk clamp can be attached by an integrated above desk fitting which makes it unnecessary to crawl under the desk to fiddle with nuts and bolts.

The Flexi Heavy Duty gas lift spring effectively floats larger monitors above the work surface, allowing easy finger-tip adjustment. The integrated spring adjustment allows precise positioning of the monitor. The monitor can be tilted up to 45 degrees, and quickly pivoted from landscape to portrait. Integrated cable management keeps the work surface free from cable clutter.
