

Monico Loop Family

Product Specification

The Monico Loop Family is a contemporary and quirky leg system which adds an extra element of style to the office. The aluminium powdercoated loop acts to enclose the base of the legs, which along with a new look, adds further stability by increasing the surface area in contact with the ground.

The Monico Loop Family is versatile, available as straight and corner desks, as well as large and oversized board room and meeting room tables. Coming standard in white and black, the legs can also be powercoated in any colour to suit your colour scheme.
